Weather Forcaster Says Storm Will Continue Tonight.

MANY SLEIGHS ON THE CITY STREETS

'White Wings" Busily Engaged in Clearing the Thoroughfares.

SUFFERING AMONG POOR

Having made a great beginning twentyfour hours ago, snow began falling again with renewed activity at an early hour this morning, and before 10 o'clock had added a half inch to the white coverlet that enrobes the national capital. The temperature today, however, is several degrees higher than it was yesterday, and before noon the snow, so vigorous during the earlier hours, passed into the form of rain. This condition will be only temporary, however, if the prognostications of the man who presides at the weather bureau are correct. While he is somewhat dubious as to the amount of the snowfall, or its probable duration, he says that in all probability the storm will continue throughout the day and night.

It is snowing today in the east as far north as Philadelphia. The section of the country bounded by the great lakes is also in the blizzard's grasp, and reports from places in that immediate neighborhood show a heavy snowfall, as well as extreme low temperatures. Citizens of the sections off your roofs on the Canadian border are suffering with the cold, and thermometric readings as low as 46 degrees below zero are reported.

The snow has deserted Dixie land, and rain as a rule prevails throughout that part of the country. Florida, that land of almost perpetual sunshine and flowers, again comes forward with the highest temperatures on the map.

In Summer Attire. The people are today wearing white flannel suits and straw hats in middle winter at Jupiter, Fla., the temperature at that place marking 72 degrees, according to the weather man's report. In New Orleans the weather is also of the balmy order, and several other southern cities report equally mild temperatures for this season.

Washington has today enjoyed splendid sleighing. The streets have been crowded with merry parties, while the jingle of the bells has been constantly in evidence. All kinds and classes of sleighs have been pressed into service, and the liverymen have been correspondingly happy. It costs almost a small fortune to hire a cutter and a fleet trotter by the hour, and the fellow whose best girl "just dotes on sleighing" has been cursing his luck and wishing for a "thaw."

have also had their full contingent of sleighs. Especially is this true of the Conduit road, where the sleighing is especially good. All-day long the road has been filled with fast-flying teams, and there have been several exciting "brushes" between their owners.

Street Cleaners at Work. The street cleaning department has been actively engaged all day in opening crossagain falling in the middle Atlantic states | pose they called into requisition 500 addiwings have also been kept busy removing urbance, and the snow area extends into the snow. The work has been under the gress yesterday appropriated $5,000 to fa cilitate the work of removing the snow and slush from the city streets. The small boy has been dreading the time when the snow shall make its exit, and the hills in and about the city have been crowded with coasting parties. The young tots seem to thoroughly enjoy the exhilarating sport. Among other places where they gather are the long, steep hills at Good and St. Elizabeth, which have be come places of amusement nightly. Each hill is a half mile in length and is an ideal coasting place. Several accidents have been reported, duto the snow and slippery condition of the sidewalks.

Miss Martha Rose, one of the assistants at substation H of the free delivery service in Anacostia, was thrown from a sleigh on the Anacostia bridge yesterday, breaking her left wrist and severely wrenching her arm. She was on her way to Anacostia at the time the accident occurred, in company with Mr. H. B. Bird of Birdlawn, Prince George's county, Md. One of the runners of the sleigh became caught on one of the rails of the Anacostia car line, and the conveyance tilted somewhat with enough force to throw Miss Rose out. She was conveyed to the substation, and afterward to the office of Dr. J. A. Watson, where she was given medical attention after which she was removed to her home on Jackson street, Anacostia. Superintendent Warner Stutler of the street cleaning department states that he nopes to have 1,000 men at work tomorrow morning, with 200 teams engaged in hauling away the snow from the important thoroughfares. The additional laborers will report at the District building at 7:30 o'clock omorrow morning, and there will probably be work for all who apply.

Warehouse Collapses. Last night, about 9:30 o'clock, the freight warehouse of the Weems line of steamers.

at Stephenson Brothers' wharf, collapsed under the great weight of snow and hail that was on the roof. Fortunately, the accident occurred when there was nobody in the building. The crash was heard some distance away, and the watchman about the premises notified the agent of the company. It is stated that $500 damage was caused by the accident.

A horse attached to a sleigh became frightened about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, near the Capitol, and ran away. P. F. Smith, the driver, was thrown from the sleigh, but was not injured. The sleigh was slightly damaged, and the animal was inured. Mrs. Mary Slater, sixty years old, living at 717 2d street northwest, slipped and fell on the sidewalk near New York avenue and 7th street about 11:30 o'clock this morning. After receiving medical aid at a near-by drug store she was removed to her Suffering Among the Poor. Much suffering has been reported among the poor since the storm began, and the charitable organizations of the city have had their hands full attending to the requests for aid. All day long the office of the Associated Charities on G street has been crowded with applicants. Secretary succor, but owing to a scarcity of funds case. In a conversation with an Evening

Star reporter he said:

"The people who are coming in to us now for aid differ materially from those who are ordinarily dependent. In other words, the storm has prevented a number of people who are usually able to support themselves from obtaining work. These people are not only willing, but anxious to do something to keep the wolf from the door, but it is impossible for them to obtain employment.

ployment. "One particularly distressing case has been brought to our attention in one of the alleys of the northwest. Here we discovered a widow and two young children who are forced to live in two rooms. There is little if any furniture, and they have scarcely the necessaries of life. The two children are boys, aged 16 and 14, respectively. The elder seems to have the first seeds of consumption and is not able at the present time to work, and his brother cannot find anything to do. The poor woman is half sick and entirely dependent upon her two boys for support. We shall do everything in our power to relieve the sufferings of that family,"

Mr. Weller said that at the present time the Associated Charities was suffering from a dearth of funds, and that notwithstanding the unusual demands now being made upon the organization the funds are not in excess of the amount which ordinarily comes in during the latter part of January.

THE COURTS.

· Gospel Meetings Continue. The gospel meetings which have been in progress at the Ninth Street Christian Church for the past month are reported to have been the most successful in the history of the church. In spite of the inciement weather of the past week large audiences have assembled to hear Evangelists Allen Wilson and F. C. Huston. About three hundred persons, it is stated, have presented themselves in response to the evangelists' invitation and many of the converts have been baptized.

The evangelists were engaged for one menth, but the interest is so great they have been persuaded to remain longer.

Keller claimed that he had been summoned here to visit the Navy Department, and produced a telegram to sub-stantiate his statement. Judge Kimball dismissed the case, saying that nothing had been produced to show that Keller was not what he claimed to be. Street Railroad Directors Chosen.
